All the brick walls, piers and area-walls must be constructed as shown and figured upon the plans; they are to be constructed of a good quality of well burned sand-brick, and none are to be used outside, or where exposed to damp or frost, that will not stand the weather. All walls which are to be exposed to view, are to be faced with the best brick, selected as well with reference to color, as to smoothness and durability; and to be laid with a struck joint. Wetting. --If the brick be laid in dry weather, they must be thoroughly made wet before laying; and in all cases the bed joints are to be well filled with mortar, and the...
